Safran Passenger Innovations Exhibits at APEX EXPO, Booth #2142

26 August, 2019

Safran Passenger Innovations, formerly Zodiac Inflight Innovations (Zii), exhibits at the industry's largest Airline Passenger Experience (APEX) Expo in Los Angeles, California, on September 9th – 12th at booth #2142.

Safran Passenger Innovations is an in-flight entertainment company and creator of RAVE (Reliable Affordable and Very Easy) entertainment and connectivity products and systems for airlines and commercial aircraft.

The company plans to exhibit new technologies and products including the RAVE ULTRA series of 4K displays available in various sizes with edge to edge viewing, a slim design (thickness of a cell phone) and integrated Bluetooth audio connecting the entire cabin simultaneously.

“APEX allows us to demonstrate our entertainment technology leadership and new corporate identity as Safran Passenger Innovations, part of Safran, a world leading international high-technology group, operating in the aircraft propulsion and equipment, space and defense markets. The essence of our company remains the same, bringing innovation and leading ideas to the in-flight entertainment (IFE) market and making passengers happy as they fly all over the world,” affirms Harry Gray, Safran Passenger Innovations VP Sales.

The Safran Passenger Innovations booth showcases a number of interactive product exhibits including RAVE displays from 10.1 inches to 32 inches. A Business class seat demonstrates innovation for future applications and Economy class seats support fully integrated RAVE ULTRA 4K 13” displays. In addition, the company introduces a breakthrough global Connectivity solution supporting both line fit and retrofit solutions.
